

THE THRIVE AGENDA

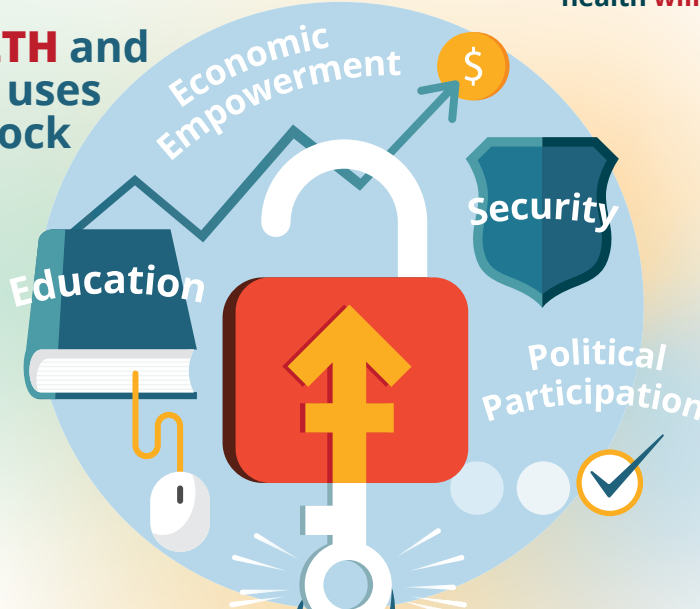

The Canadian global health community has collaboratively developed the Thrive Agenda, a bold vision for the next phase of Canadian leadership.

Canada's current commitment to women, adolescent and children's health will end in 2020

TAKES HEALTH and RIGHTS and uses them to unlock access to...

Thrive is a comprehensive approach to health and rights that places the woman, adolescent or child at the centre and unlocks her access to the full spectrum of interventions needed throughout her lifecycle to reach her full potential.

Thrive builds on current annual investments of $1 billion and calls for an additional investment of $400 million year over year to fill critical gaps.

...all essential to gender equality.

Thrive builds on Canada's proud reputation — we're known around the world for our base of excellence in women and children's health.

Investing $4.60 per person per year in the physical, mental and sexual health of adolescents aged 10-19 years...

brings 10x the economic benefits

prevents 12 MILLION adolescent deaths and over 30 MILLION unwanted pregnancies.

¹The Global Gag Rule, reinstated by the United States Government on January 23, 2017, compels non-government organizations to choose between receiving U.S. global health assistance and delivering comprehensive sexual and reproductive health care.

Investment in women and children's health has a potential return of $15 CAD for every dollar spent.

Every $1 spent on contraceptive services in developing regions saves $2.20 in maternal and newborn healthcare.

While the Global Gag Rule¹ challenges others, Thrive uses Canada's unique voice and role in the world, to secure our legacy and to invest in areas where others can't or won't.

Where Canada leads, others will follow.
