Established: May 2022

Last Revised: May 2022

Reports To: Manager, Communications

Terms of Working Group:

Representatives are required to commit to a minimum of one year but are encouraged to commit to a full two-year term. Annually, a call for nominations will be issued in May. A member whose term has elapsed may be considered for extension as long as they still meet the age range requirements. To be considered for extension, the member must express their interest in extending their term via email to the CanWaCH secretariat. Those expressing interest are not guaranteed to have their terms extended; the co-chairs and the CanWaCH secretariat will evaluate applications for extension on a case-by-case basis alongside nominations received from those not currently represented on the working group.

Co-Chairs:

The Youth Working Group will have two co-chairs elected from within the membership. Chairs are responsible for leading Youth Working Group meetings (confirming the agenda, moderating the discussion and confirming decision points) with assistance from the CanWaCH secretariat. One of the two co-chairs should be present in all meeting calls, however, exceptions may be necessary. Co-chairs are eligible for re-election following the completion of their term.

Membership:

The youth working group will consist of up to fifteen members whose community activities, engagement and lived experience reflect the mandate of the CanWaCH membership to advance the health and rights of women, children and adolescents around the world.

- Age range of the members: 18 to 30 years old.
- Regional representation: youth from each geographic region, including Atlantic Canada (Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, Prince Edward Island), Central Canada (Québec, Ontario), the Prairies (Manitoba, Saskatchewan), the West (Alberta, British Columbia) and the North (Nunavut, Yukon, and Northwest Territories) are encouraged to apply.
- Intersectionality of the members: youth who have intersectional perspectives, identities and are connected to different social movements are encouraged to apply. This will include, but is not limited to, youth with disabilities, 2SLGBTQ+, Black, Indigenous or racialized youth, and youth who are migrants or refugees.

Experience volunteering or working with a CanWaCH member is an asset. Participation in either local and global networks addressing women, adolescent, and children's health is also a strong asset, but is not a requirement.

The Youth Working Group will be supported with secretariat services by CanWaCH personnel.

Meeting Format:

Bi-monthly, virtual, 1.5-hour meetings. The Youth Working Group will also be responsible for organizing a semi-annual convening of professionals responsible for youth engagement and activities within the CanWaCH membership and its sector partners.
